Immuni is an app created to help us fight the Covid-19 pandemic.

Thanks to the contact-tracing feature, when a user discovers that he/she is "positive" for the virus, Immuni allows him to anonymously alert people with whom he has been in close contact and who may therefore have infected. By being informed promptly (potentially even before developing symptoms of Covid-19), these people can contact their general practitioner to find out more about their clinical situation. They can also avoid infecting others, helping to reduce the spread of the coronavirus.
