D3 VISA: What it is?

The D3 visa is a residence visa for teaching and/or research purposes and/or high qualified professionals. Applicants who have been hired by a Portuguese cultural institution to develop a cultural activity or project, within the framework of a project recognized by the member of the Portuguese Government responsible for the area of culture or by law as of national interest are also entitled to apply for a D3 visa.

Therefore, the D3 visa is entitled to all foreign citizens (who are not nationals from Switzerland and the Member States of the European Union and/or the European Economic Area), and: a) who have been admitted as PhD students at a Portuguese high institution; or b) as researchers at a research centre recognised by the Ministry of Education and Science of Portugal; or c) that that have been hired to teach at a higher education institution in Portugal; or d) that have been hired to perform a high qualified job at a Portuguese company.

As for any residence visa, D3 visa grants two entries in Portugal to the visa holder, being valid for a period of four months (120 days). During that period, the visa holder is required to apply for a residency permit with the competent Portuguese authorities: <https://aima.gov.pt/>

Tech Visa program or D3 visa?

Tech Visa is an accreditation program focused on providing Portuguese companies with a fast-track system to hire highly qualified professionals from outside the Schengen area. It aims at simplifying the access to highly qualified professionals (and who are nationals of countries outside the European Union and the European Economic Area and Switzerland) to jobs at Portuguese companies, particularly in the field of technology, information, and innovation. Therefore, the Tech Visa program is mostly aimed at technological and innovative companies that are looking to attract highly qualified and specialized professionals to Portugal.

The Tech Visa program is run by IAPMEI, I.P. (the Portuguese Public Agency for Competitiveness and Innovation – within the Portuguese Ministry of Economy). Therefore, IAPMEI, I.P. is responsible for assessing and accrediting companies under the Tech Visa program. So if you are a highly qualified worker and plan to work in Portugal, find here the list of certified companies by IAPMEI, I.P. under the Tech Visa program: <https://www.vfsglobal.com/one->
